Buy Property, Say the Country Club Members

Rigid Economy Is Urged at Annual Meeting That Property May Be Acquired and Expenditures Already Made Not Become Total Loss — Committee Reports Show Affairs of Organization To Be in Flourishing Condition and Membership Growing Steadily—Officers Elected for Year

That the directors should take immediate steps toward arranging for the purchase of the land occupied by the Oahu Country Club was the unanimous sentiment expressed by the members at the annual meeting last night. It was reported that an option had been obtained and attention was called to the necessity for taking action at once.

President George R. Carter, in his retiring address, urged the incoming directors to consider carefully the necessity for purchasing the property and to see that rigid economy is practiced that the purchase may be possible. He called particular attention to the large expenditures that the club has made upon the property and urged that the land must therefore be bought that the money may not be a dead loss.

At the close of the president's address, the question of buying the land was discussed at length. The general sentiment of the members being that the matter could not be closed up too soon.

The report of the treasurer showed the club to be in excellent condition, financially, and improving all of the time. The total membership is now 292 and the club is increasing rapidly in popularity.

The house committee's report showed that $500 was expended during the past year in improving the interior of the club house and that much was accomplished with the money.

The grounds committee reported the links in good shape and improvements still going on.

The following officers and directors were elected to serve through the coming year:

George R. Carter, president; W. F. Dillingham, vice president; E. A. Mott-Smith, second vice president; J. O. Young, treasurer; H. C. Carter, secretary; S. Beadmore, Auditor; F. C. Smith, F. Waldron, H. H. Walker, J. C. Evans, directors.

OUTRIGGER CLUB

CARNIVAL PLANS ARE MATURING

PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED FOR WATER FESTIVAL

Events Are Arranged for Afternoon and Evening and Juniors Will Have Opportunity to Exhibit Skill—Moonlight Practice Draws Crowds

Plans for the Outrigger Club's carnival at Waikiki on Saturday next are rapidly maturing. A tentative program has been arranged and, though it is not unlikely that some minor changes will be made during the week, in substance, the program at present outlined will probably be presented.

It is the intention to give the junior members of the Club ample opportunity to exhibit their skill in handling surfboard and canoe, and, as many of the youngsters are making great progress, it is likely that the ladies for them will be among the most interesting on the program. As the matter now stands, it is the intention to give up most of the afternoon to the boys, the senior members of the club doing their "stunts" after nightfall.

Further experiments with electric torches have demonstrated that their use on surfboards and canoes is entirely practicable and the illuminated events will be the spectacular feature of the entire carnival. The Seaside Hotel is being visited nightly by a host of people, anxious to watch the practice demonstrations which the club members are making.

It is planned to have the surf events over by 9 o'clock, so that the participants may enjoy the balls at the Moana and Seaside. It was suggested that the contests might be continued on into the evening, that the dancers could drop out and watch them from time to time. The proposition was met with a roar of protests from the men, however, for they objected to furnishing amusement while their less strenuous fellows were taking things easy.

The program, as at present outlined, is as follows:

From 2 to 5 p. m.:
First event—Surfboarding in big surf. (a) Long distance contest; (b) relay surfing; (c) fancy surfing.
Second event—Canoe sailing race for beginners.
Third event—Single paddle canoes for big boys.
Fourth event—Three-paddle canoe race for beginners.

Fifth event—Two-paddle canoe race, paddlers in each canoe to be brothers.

Sixth event—Three-paddle canoe race for girls.

Seventh event—Three-paddle canoe race for women.

Eighth event—Spar-tilting on surfboards.

Ninth event—Surfboard contest for girls.

Tenth event—Six-paddle canoe race for boy beginners.

Eleventh event—Surfboating race.

Twelfth event—Swimming and body-surfing.

From 7 to 9 p. m.:

First event—Electric surfboarding in small surf.

Second event—Torch-lit surfboard races.

Third event—One-paddle canoe races with torches.

Fourth event—Six-paddle torch-lit canoe races, with colored lights.

Fifth event—Three-paddle canoe race by electric searchlight.

Sixth event—Swimming with torches.

Seventh event—Surfboard race.

The ladies are now taking an interest in the Outrigger sports for next Saturday afternoon. Canoe crews from each of the women's boat clubs will enter.

Ruth Soper, who is one of the leading young girl surfboard riders, will have a crew, besides entering the surfboard contest with several others of her own age and younger.

Little 5-year-old Kinau Wilder declares she intends to win a surfing prize, and as little Kinau stands as gracefully on a board as any grown person at Waikiki, it is more than likely that this winsome little miss will win a prize next Saturday.

Others wishing to enter the girls' surfboard contest are requested to notify Miss Soper.

If that carnival of the Outrigger Club does not create something in the way of a mild sensation here there will be several people very much surprised. Certainly, a large amount of originality has been expended in the arrangements and there is every reason why the occasion should prove an epoch-making event. The Outrigger Club was organized with the laudable purpose of keeping alive the picturesque water sports of ancient Hawaii. The members are going their original plans one better now, and are embellishing the entertainment which used to be presented before Kamehameha the Great with the inventive genius of Mr. Edison.

TENNIS

LATE STEAM MARS PLAYERS' SHOWING

FINALS IN DOUBLES TOURNAMENT ARE RATHER TAME

Sets Are Finished in Record Time and Good Work Is Done, but Contest Lacks Spirit Compared With Thursday's Showing—Doubles Next Week

The quality of play that developed in the men's championship tennis doubles matches on Thursday gave promise that, when the play resumed yesterday, the spectators would again be treated to close, exciting tennis. But, as often happens in all athletic games, especially in baseball, when, with three men on bases, the man at bat has three balls and two strikes called on him, and everyone feels that something extraordinary is about to happen, the batter pops up a measly little foul and the whole thing is over, so yesterday at the Beretania courts the spectators were all keyed up to concert pitch and nothing particular happened.

Cunha and Warren got away to a flying start and were never headed. For some reason, Castle and Cooke did not get up steam until too late, which was disappointing, as they are capable of the best grade of tennis. Cunha's work at the net was splendid in its force and accuracy; Warren ably backed up his partner in crossing over for alley strokes, and together they are a hard pair to beat.

The time of play is a local record, the two sets occupying twenty-five minutes, whereas on Thursday the two sets played consumed one hour and twenty minutes. The score, follows: Cunha and Warren beat A. L. Castle and R. A. Cooke, 8-6, 7-19, 6-2, 6-2.

The winners of yesterday's match will play the holders of the doubles title, C. H. Cooke and W. P. Roth, on the Pacific Tennis Club courts next Thursday afternoon, when a battle royal may confidently be looked for.

GOSSIP FROM THE REALM OF SPORT

With the advent of eight troops of the Fifth Cavalry, it is to be hoped that the royal game of polo will receive an increased impetus and that some interesting tournaments will result. With the possible exception of the famous Tenth Cavalry polo team, the Fifth Cavalry aggregation is probably the finest in the Army. New blood means new life, and with an assemblage of polo cranks right here on Oahu, there will be every incentive to renewed activity on the part of the civilian players. Lovers of the noble game will await with interest the arrival of the troopers, for among the officers of the Fifth are some noted hard riders.
